Workshop to Empower Women

Education is the cornerstone of a prosperous life. But what happens when one is not educated, how do they take their decisions, what is the basis? It is hard to understand what goes on in the lives of people who live in extreme poverty. Living becomes difficult and making sensible decisions even more so.

Through this workshops we spoke to women from slum areas the importance of education, and all the while stressing upon a prosperous future of the children who receive good education when they are young. A child needs support and to give them that support the parents, especially the mothers need to be in a positive frame of mind. Self care becomes important, good hygiene and etiquettes allow them to fit in. Being accepted by a larger community, with positive reinforcement of practicing what they have learnt, there is a very good chance that they will teach their children similar habits.

Workshop to Empower Women

Engaging women from low income areas through our monthly workshop has been possible by the extra efforts of IMPA – Image Management Professionals Association.

Through them we were able to get Meenakshi Bansal to conduct the workshop, where she spoke about the importance of education and the value of self care.

“A strong woman knows she has strength enough for the journey, but a woman of strength knows it is in the journey where she will become strong.”

A gift for our visitors.

Our organization Society for Child Development aims to create an environment where all benefit. We try and accommodate as many as we can. These monthly workshops that we conduct are for the women from slum areas whose children we teach or have taught in the past. As you may remember our work is primarily with children with disability and their families. Through these workshops we hope to empower these mothers with knowledge that will drive them towards a better life.
